Description

Issue 29 includes Plan Orange as well as scenarios for GMT Games' Hoplite and Wing Leader.

Plan Orange is a complete stand alone game that uses the Empire of the Sun CDG engine to simulate a hypothetical Pacific war between the United States and the Empire of Japan in the early 1930s. The game features a 'what if' conflict based on the United States Orange (Japan) plans on how to respond to anticipated Japanese aggression in the Western Pacific. This is still the era of the Battleship ala Jutland supported by the early introduction of aircraft carriers that would be the capital ship that would dominate the real war that occurred 9 years later (1941).

The game comes with a full sized map, 48 cards, mounted counters, and rules.
