Description

Very good unpunched copy.

The first tank battle between Tigers and Joseph Stalin. An early attempt to crush the Soviet bridgehead across the Vistula.

One 11 x 17" map

280 counters

Units represent a single AFV or platoon of non-AFV troops.

Each hex = 400 yards.

Each turn represents 15 minutes.

Please note that this is a DTP (Desk Top Publishing) game designed on a desktop computer and all components, including the counters which will have to be cut and mounted, are printed on paper. These are designed by some very well-known designers and are a low cost alternative to today's professionally produced games. On rare occasions, some of these games are reproduced by other companies with higher quality components including die-cut counters but most of them are not. If you believe this game to have a professionally produced version, please contact us with your inquiry and we will help you to locate it if it does indeed exist.
