

Strategy & Tactics Quarterly: Gettysburg: High Tide or Desperate Gamble?

Christopher Perello takes another plunge into these deep waters, examining how the campaign and battle came about, how they progressed as they did, and how one or both might have turned out differently.

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Price £11.95

Ask a question about this product

Manufacturer DECISION GAMES

Description

Please Note: This version does not include the Map Poster, as the Mag&Map version is now a publisher exclusive.

Gettysburg: High Tide or Desperate Gamble? Gettysburg (1-3 July 1863) has achieved near-legendary status among Civil War aficionado and non-history buff alike. The story covers not three days but three months, involving decision-making at the highest governmental levels as well as action by quick-thinking individuals on the battlefield. Christopher Perello takes another plunge into these deep waters, examining how the campaign and battle came about, how they progressed as they did, and how one or both might have turned out differently.