Description

In late May 1864, Grant slides around Lee's flank at Spotsylvania and triggers a race to the North Anna. As fighting erupts on both sides of the river, Lee sets a trap based on a brilliant "inverted V" position which forces Grant to divide his army. Once the trap is sprung, Lee plans to defeat part of Grant's army in detail by striking an offensive blow. The stakes are high and the opposing armies will never again be so evenly matched. So take command and end the war in 1864. The time to strike is now!
