Description

American Revolution (Reprint of Strategy & Tactics #270).

The American Revolution: Decision in North America (AR), is a two-player wargame, designed by Joseph Miranda, in which you command the Americans or the British in the War of American Independence, 1775-82. The American player may also control French and Spanish units if those nations enter the war. Instead of the full campaign game, players may also choose to play the shorter scenario that ends in 1779.

The game includes the updated map (34"x22"), 228 counters, an upgraded 32-page rules booklet with updated rules, new optional rules, a new scenario, a play-through (by Bickford), and designer FAQ's, plus two Player Aid Cards with helpful play information.
