Biggest battle during the American Revolution. Washington attacks Clinton's rearguard at Monmouth courthouse.

Uses Wellington's Victory system modified for American Revolution era. No cavalry charges and complications here. Main aspects of rules include unit facing, morale modified by casualties received, command control and fatigue due to the hot temperatures during the battle. Victory is determined by killing enemy strength points and capturing the 4 crossroads in the battle area.
